

Summit D&V obtained certification “ISO14001” International standard

Summit D&V (hereinafter SDV), a subsidiary of Sumitomo Corporation Power & Mobility Co., Ltd. located in Hungary, obtained ISO14001 certification, an international standard for environmental management systems, in February 2025.

The Company has developed its environmental policy, the main goal and guideline of which is to promote environmentally conscious operations, in line with its set goals. It is committed to environmentally friendly operations and to the continuous development and improvement of the system.

As part of the Environmental Policy, short- and medium-term objectives of the Environmental Management System have been defined, such as installing solar panels to reduce environmental impact, training internal auditors, increasing the amount of selectively collected waste, and positively shaping the environmental awareness of employees.

The Company also expects its suppliers and subcontractors to ensure that their products and services meet the environmental requirements set for them.

We will continue these activities and focus on the environmental efforts to aim for a sustainable future.
